quite so well as usual . . . I was not able to do anything. It seemed like I was dwindling away, and kept getting more puny every day. I was weak and pale and could not stand on my feet long . . . I had no doctor but I linew by my feelings that I had womanly weakness. After I decided to try Cardut, I bought one bottle. It seemed as if the very first few doses began to help me. I was surprised that anything could begin to act so quickly. But It helped me right away. I know it did because I began immediately to get strong. After I finished that first bottle, I bought another. When I had finished that second bottle I was all right. I did not need a third bottle. I kept right on getting stronger until I was as strong as ever, and I have kept so . . . Now I am as well and as strong and as able to do my work as I ever was in my life."

Daily Novelette SHIPWRECKED.

ROBINSON SWISSFELLOW sat upon a desert tsland. No longer could be conceal from himself the fact that he was shipwrecked. But was side and a Swissfellow by direct deknow instinctively what to do when shipwrecked.

Plucking a few mussels from a nearby tree, he attods off. Turning the corner, he came upon a blonde girl sitting upon a rock.

"Ah a mermaid," breathed flohinson, but not so. It was his cousin, Virginia Cruesoe, who tripped toward him over the sand.

"Why, Robinson!" she cried, "what delightful coincidence led us to be shipwrecked on the same island? Come to my cars for tes.

Leading him to a care she produced a complete tea service and prepared him a delicious cup of Colong with bread fruit sandwiches.

"perceive," said Robinson, "that you have discovered one of the most nutritious of Pacific fruits, which haked, boiled or fried is always pulatible. I would I could catch a fish for you."

this successful remedy is made impresses even the casual looker-on with the reliability, accuracy, skill and cleanliness which attends the making of this great medicine for woman's ills.

Over 350,000 pounds of various herbs are used annually and all have to be gathered at the season of the year when their natural juices and medicinal substances are at their best.

The most successful solvents are ed to extract the medicinal proportles from these herbs.

Every otensil and tank that comes in contact with the medicine is sterilized and as a final precaution in cleanliness the medicine is pas surized and sealed in sterile bot-

It is the wenderful combination of roots and herbs, together with the skill and care used in its prepa-ration which has made this famous medicine so successful in the treatment of female ills.

The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its virtue.
